CELEBRATING ARTS, CULTURE AND UNSUNG MEDICAL HEROES

Considering the current climate of unrest here and abroad, entities like The Harlem Fine Arts Show (HFAS) are needed now more than ever. Reaching within our creative souls can have a positive effect not only who we are as people, but also how we interact with each other.

While exploring the relationship between health and creative expression is in part a scientific endeavor, we can also relish in the pure aesthetics of art and how it makes us feel. We have a long-standing saying at the HFAS that the show promotes and provides “cultural nutrition,” but we have also seen how art has the power to heal.

It is fitting then, that for the first time in Chicago, the HFAS will be celebrating the outstanding contributions of African American medical professionals. Our Salute to African Americans in Medicine (AAIM) Opening Gala Reception highlights the excellence and contributions, of exceptional individuals from top medical institutions across the Chicagoland area. This is particularly important because, while celebrities and athletes are elevated in our culture; doctors, nurses and other medical professionals often work in obscurity. Through this special recognition, HFAS hopes to cast a spotlight on those who are making significant contributions to our society with little to no fanfare. Please join us to meet all of these outstanding practitioners.

While putting together our fourth-anniversary event in Chicago, HFAS was careful to ensure that talent and creativity remain in the forefront. As such, we continue to showcase visual artists whose works represent the broad spectrum of imagery from across the African Diaspora. This is one of our core values at the Harlem Fine Arts Show, and we continue to embrace that.

Finally, after a three-year run in Chicago at both the Merchandise Mart and Life Creative, HFAS has found a new home at the state-of-the-art Malcolm X College. It is a perfect location, as it channels the spirit of the Harlem Renaissance and reinforces the cultural impact of Malcolm X. Both promoted literature, the arts, and intellect as important aspects of African American cultural identity.

Thank you for joining us for the Harlem Fine Arts Show in Chicago, a unique experience that will touch your heart and fill your soul. It is a true celebration of Chicago’s artistic heritage, the African Diasporic art movement and the health and healing power of art.

A revolutionary cancer breakthrough.

The first place to offer it in Chicago.

At the forefront of immunotherapy, blood cells are doing something remarkable: fighting cancer. The University of Chicago Medicine now has a way to supercharge patients’ own white blood cells. And then reintroduce them into the bloodstream with instructions to find and attack leukemia. CAR T-cell therapy is an uncommon approach that’s opening a new era in cancer care. And UChicago Medicine is one of only a few to offer it.

See how this breakthrough is changing lives at UChicagoMedicine.org/DefeatCancer.
